Dean Adams Will Finish His Series of Four Lectures

Last Lecture to be Given To-morrow in Strathcona Hall

To-morrow afternoon, Dean Adams will give the fourth and last of his series of Sunday lectures on the subject of Christianity and the Problems of Modern Life.
The subject will be "How the culture of the ages may be used for the benefit of man." This should be of great interest to college students and many will no doubt seize the opportunity to hear Dr. Adams on such a subject. These meetings have proved very interesting and are made all the more attractive by the fact that they start early and in consequence finish early. Thus they can not interfere with anyone's plans for the afternoon.

Battle Ground of Students of All Nations

Students, Says Dr. Mott, More Fiercely Tempted Than Other Men

PRACTICAL HINTS IN FIGHTS OF LIFE

Warfare Must Be Uncompromising - Weakness Cannot be Hidden But Must Be Squarely Faced

Speaking on the battle-grounds of students in all nations, Dr. Mott declined last night with what might be called the under side of student life, and laid down a few practical hints for the benefit of those students who are making honest attempts to change the condition of affairs that they are not finding to their taste.

"In all nations," said Dr. Mott, "men are tempted, and students are more fiercely tempted than any other class of men. Their sedentary habits of life expose them with more than ordinary force to temptations of the body, one of the best things in college sport is that it helps a man to win the battle over moral weakness in college and after. The student is in a greater degree exposed to temptations, that range solely in the intellect, and these are the most difficult to conquer.
These are indifference to the claims of the religious and ethical nature, impurity in thought and action, apathy, crisis and double-mindedness, intellectual pride, the most deadly of all sins of

HON. MR. JUSTICE CROSS.
Who will be a Speaker at the Law Dinner to be held at the Ritz-Carton to-night.

the intellect, selfishness, and intemperance. These are found in all students of all races.

"It is no easy battle," said the speaker, "in the most favoured community, to keep pure, strong, reverent, under control, responsive to reality. I would not have it otherwise.
Our temptations are opportunities for virtue, a drill ground for strong faith and character. We are being tried out. We are being given an opportunity for greatness. All this is contingent on a man having the right attitude to temptation as something to be resisted and overcome, not to be yielded to. There must be no middle ground. This is a choice between victory and slavery. The slave is the man who is unable to see an effort "No" to the world with the right attitude, temptation reveals great benefits to be gained in the struggle."

Dr. Mott dwelt long on the impossibility of hiding a weakness. It cannot be hidden from God. It cannot be hidden from our fellow-students. The weakness cannot be kept from the practiced eye. This is true of weakness, both physical and mental. If the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaks, and even silence at some times reveals even more than speech.
And even if nobody finds out your sins, yet will they find you out, just as surely as the failure to prepare for college tests brings many a college career to a premature close. Hypocrasy finds us out, because after all, no more can go out of us than what is in us. A break-down in physical health often comes as the result of long hidden failings. Sometimes a man's hidden weakness finds him out in the descendants whom he has condemned to suffering lives. In other words, Dr. Mott illustrated the appearance of the fatal weakness at a critical moment, and urged his hearers to fight the enemy with a fixed will and an uncompromising spirit.

After a short intermission, Dr. Mott took up the practical side of the subject and applied a few sound rules of practice. "When even Christ was tempted, there can be no exception to the rule of temptation." First, resist promptly and earnestly. It is not a sin to be a man who is making it a sin to let it stay there. This is the critical part of the battle-field. "The men that lose lose right here," said the speaker, "if you stop to play with temptation, to walk away looking at it over your shoulder, and every time the result is your undoing.
Why not adopt the practice of victory, instant resistance? Men often lose because they haven't even made a fight. You have to put in the fight the energy that you put in sport and in scholarship."

Secondly, make no compromise with temptation. Do not break off by doing a year, and make up your mind to reduce your dishonesty yearly year, there is very little chance that much good will be done. Thirdly, avoid the presence of temptation. It is true that temptation may be a source of greatness. But conscious exposure to temptation can only result in some falling to the bottom and in all being stained. Fourthly, the fight must be positive as well as negative. Be pre-

"I would say to you what I have said several times to President Falconer and others in authority at the University of Toronto: a real public service might be rendered, especially by the larger universities in providing opportunities for students in providing to fit themselves for life-work on the Press. Several universities in the United States are doing work in the department of journalism quite as valuable, alike from the professional standing and as a cultural discipline, as work done in other departments.
The present haphazard training for newspaperwork is unsatisfactory to the reporters, to the editors and to the public. The work in Columbia, under Dr. Talcott Williams, is a serious university discipline and is most useful training for any student who has the natural gift for newspaper work.
"In the practice work of the department a way out of the long-standing distress of college journalism might be found. I speak from observation and experience of twenty-five years ago," Dr. J. A. Macdonald, Editor-in-Chief of the Toronto Globe."

Speaking of sin, Henry Drummond said, "Ignorance is in surrender it. Vigilance is always necessary. Some men must watch most when they are alone. Other men must watch most when they are with other men. "I hope," said the speaker, "that there is a man who is making it harder for anyone else to do the thing he has set his heart to do." It is necessary to be forearmed. Base as it may be to lose a fight, it is much worse to have no chance of fighting.
In times of peace, prepare for war.
If you detect temptation in time, have weapons to resist and are trained in their use, the victory will not be so difficult. Lastly, do not fight alone.
We are fellows in the fight, and it is impossible to be Christian alone. In closing, Dr. Mott told his hearers to associate sufficiently with Christ. In no other personality could there be found complete security.

Faculty Gave Luncheon for Dr. J.R. Mott

Yesterday

SPECIAL MESSAGE FOR PROFESSORS

Crucial Struggle of World is in Universities at Present Time

In honor of Dr. Mott, there was held in the Union yesterday, a luncheon at which Principal Peterson was the official host. At this gathering the Board of Governors, practically all the teaching staff and many alumni of the university and many of the officers of the university battalion. It was possibly the largest gathering ever held in McGill and was amply repaid by listening to the message Dr. Mott had especially for professors and officers of a university. His address dealt with the great part professors and teachers had to do with the constructive work of the world and the great influence they had over the character building of the students who came in contact with them. His address came from a depth of experience, to the like of which no man living has yet attained. Dr. Mott has been studying these subjects through a period of twenty-six years, during which he has visited many times, practically every prominent university in the world and has now come into personal contact with the leaders of stu-

Speaker at the Law Dinner to-night.

dent activities throughout the length and breadth of six continents.
After being introduced by Principal Peterson, Dr. Mott said: "I am glad that another link has been forged in the chain that binds me to this university, to which I am already very dearly attached. I am glad of this opportunity to meet in a more intimate way, the men who have such a large share to play in the constructive factors of the world's work. I have met as many McGill men in all their various pursuits in all parts of the world as any man of my own age." He went on to say that he had had a particular opportunity in doing so as for almost twenty-six years he had been travelling incessantly through every land on every continent, brought out the world. The men of McGill he had met reflected nothing but credit upon the university and were men of whom the professors might justly be proud.

Dr. Mott then continued: "The most crucial struggles of the world were not the ones in Northern France, nor in Eastern Prussia, nor in Serbia, nor in any of the regions of the theatre of war. Neither was it in the strongholds of Mohammedanism, nor in China's Confucianism, or India's Buddhism, or in Africa's darkest interior, but it was in the universities and colleges of the world.
"Any idea of ideal that is to dominate the nation or the people must first dominate the young people of the universities and other centres of learning. It is from these that the rulers spring and it is a matter of supreme importance what ideas and ideals shall rule those who shall shape the destinies of the world. Therefore it behooves the university professor to fashion in the wisest way the character of the men who shall some day rule.

To this end has been formed a comprehensive world federation of Christian students. This is not an Anglo-Saxon movement, although branches have been founded in every corner of the Anglo-Saxon world, not a Latin organization, although throughout France, Italy, Spain and in the most progressive universities of Latin America, there are offshoots of the parent stem, and yet it is neither a Slavonic enterprise, although, almost beyond hope as it was twenty-five years ago, affiliations have risen in Russia and throughout the Balkans, nor yet an Oriental one, still there are branches in many of the universities of India, China, Japan, Turkey. It is a worldwide union of students, a federation, not an amalgamation. It is true that thousands of the members of the faculty have lent the weight of their influence to the promotion of this movement and while it is the thing for them to do, they must recognize that the organization must be voluntary if progressive. The students must have to a large degree the responsibility of the work, and must rule it themselves, yet the professors should lend the directive influence and should intensify where necessary, should check, should broaden, should narrow, the sphere of its work unobtrusively. This explains

Law Undergrads To Have Banquet At Ritz Tonight

The Undergraduates' Society of the Faculty of Law will hold their annual banquet at the Ritz-Carlton tonight, Feb'y 29th. The festivities will commence at 7.45, when a large representation from the faculty will as-inner man. No efforts have been spared by the committee in charge to make this dinner the most successful in the history of the Law School, and many prominent men in the profes-accept the students' invitation and will respond to the toast proposed by Mr. S. Vineberg, to "The Alma Mater." Among the other distinguished visitors may be mentioned Judge Cross, E. G. Howard, K. C.; P. B. Mignault and W. H. How. Representatives will also be present from Harvard and Osgoode Hall, Toronto, and will speak in response to the toast of the "Sister

16 to 14 Was Final Score, Ferguson Netting the Winning Basket for McGill in Dying Moments of the Game

FERGUSON, WILLISCROFT AND BALDWIN, ALL STARTED

Zimmerman and Gidley Played the Best Games for Toronto—Championship Practically Assured For McGill

Considering that they had a long journey and a regular league game ahead of them, the senior hockey squad had quite a strenuous practice yesterday at the Arena. The hockey was just as fast if not more so than the usual brand, but they retired after half an hour of it.

Captain Mann directed affairs in the absence of the coach, and managed to keep the men going hard. Rooney, as usual, was chuck full of ginger and kept his opponents busy. He seems to be the only one of the squad who can make Shorty a little less calm than he does ordinarily. Mann is still there, with his quick shot, but evidently did not care to exert himself too much in back-checking. Andrews came along with a new stick which he liked into shape by plenty of use, both on the defensive and on the offensive. Hall and Morris constituted Shorty's defence. Kendall being absent, and the two certainly have a strong resemblance to a brick wall. Rainboth was a little late in coming so worked at top speed to make up, while Eric Parsons was skating around using his sound foot to slide on and pushing with the injured member.

On the whole the men seem to realize that Toronto will not be an easy proposition and are going with the desire to win.

(Special Daily Representative.)

With the score tied three minutes before the final whistle blew, the McGill basketball team beat out the Toronto University in one of the fastest and best games ever played in the Queen City. The very close score of 16 to 14, with the issue always in doubt, shows just how the game progressed, nobody being able to tell the winner. The result was that the excitement was intense right up until full time declared McGill the victors.

For the first time in years, the Red and White basketball team has downed the Blue and White on their own floor. This in itself speaks exceptionally well for the calibre of the men representing McGill for the Varsity quintette is by no means a weak aggregation. With three of last year's team playing, they represent one of the strongest teams that has ever upheld the Toronto name in a gymnasium floor. This in itself speaks well for the McGill team. Last year they were defeated in Toronto with the result that the season ended with a draw. This season they have won both their last week by a large score and then downing Toronto last night. This just leaves the two home games to be played, with the result that the championship is as good as captured by the Red and White representatives.

MCGILL DESERVED WIN.

The McGill team, without a doubt, deserved to win. They played the best game of the season. First, the great combination work which won for them last week, again gave McGill their superiority over the Toronto boys. This was when the game was won and lost. McGill played wonderful combination. Varsity didn't and although the Toronto guards were exceptionally hard to shoot the McGill team-play beat them out.

The game was fast from start to finish, each team playing hard all the while. Both teams checked close, allowing no easy chances to get at the basket. It was three minutes before final time when Ferguson, nabbing a loose ball, notched the winning goal on a long shot. Excitement was at fever heat. Varsity men fighting like demons to tie up the score, but failed to do so, although within a minute of full time they had a near shave, but Seath intercepted thus saving a sure goal.

After the first half, when the score stood a tie, eight all, the game became a struggle. McGill, the game being a tie, McGill was defeated by two goals to one after a hard and closely contested game. This improved showing against Laval is significant of the general improvement in the whole McGill team. It is true that the Red and White were defeated by Queen's last week, but it must be remembered that Tri-color have practically lost last year's championship team on the ice again this year.

Both "Shorty" Mann and "Monty" Montgomery can be depended on to put up a cool steady game in goal.

If McGill beats Varsity to-night, they will once more be in the running for the intercollegiate honors, as both of their remaining games are on home ice.

Last night the intermediate hockey men held their last work-out before their game with Queen's at Kingston, on Monday. All of the eligibles were outdared work-out through a fast and peppery work-out, the forwards going up against the defence. After the practice, the management selected the following men to play at Kingston on Monday:

Goal—Clark.
Defence—Lyons, Smith, Mackenzie (spare).
Centre—Ritchie.
Right wing—Work.
Left wing—Ross.
Rover—Kelsch.
Spare forwards—Nicholson and Brice.

The team has not had as much team practice as is desirable, but they are all hard workers and are determined to go till they drop if necessary.

Manager Clark announced that the Kingston train leaves at 9 a.m. Monday from the Grand Trunk station. The players making the trip are to be at the depot at 8.45 a.m. in order to avoid confusion. The men are also advised to bring spare sticks as well as to provide themselves with McGill stockings and jerseys.

GAME TO-NIGHT.

To-night at Toronto, McGill meets Varsity in the second intercollegiate hockey match of the season. The McGill men left last night for Toronto, coolly confident of their ability to down the Blue and White.

The following players left for Toronto last night: Mann, Montgomery, Kendall, Morris, Rainboth, Rooney, Hall, Parsons, Marston.

Otto DeMuth, the husky McGill defence man, is sure to be missed from the line-up. As announced at the first of the week, DeMuth is unable to play owing to a severe injury which he suffered to his knee. However, Morris, who is taking DeMuth's place is a good man and can be depended upon to give a good account of himself.

In forecasting a victory for one team or the other, hockey supporters have a very small amount of working material, for during their training season, both teams lost the majority of their games. It is, in an encouraging fact that the McGill septette have improved wonderfully in the last two or three weeks. In their first game with Laval, three weeks ago, McGill was defeated by 8 goals to 1. In their recent game with Laval on Monday last, McGill was defeated by two goals to one after a hard and closely contested game. This improved showing against Laval is significant of the general improvement in the whole McGill team. It is true that the Red and White were defeated by Queen's last week, but it must be remembered that Tri-color have practically lost last year's championship team on the ice again this year.

SMITH INJURED.

One of the most unfortunate accidents to the McGill team was the retirement of Smith in the first half. Both men fighting like demons to tie up the score, but failed to do so, although within a minute of full time they had a near shave, but Seath intercepted thus saving a sure goal.

After the first half, when the score stood a tie, eight all, the game became a struggle. McGill, the game being a tie, McGill was defeated by two goals to one after a hard and closely contested game. This improved showing against Laval is significant of the general improvement in the whole McGill team. It is true that the Red and White were defeated by Queen's last week, but it must be remembered that Tri-color have practically lost last year's championship team on the ice again this year.

Indoor Track Meet Will Be On Wednesday

Elimination Trials in the Track Events Are to be Held on Monday

MANY ATHLETES HAVE ENTERED

Entries for the Track and Field Events to be in by
Monday

It has been definitely decided to hold Elimination Trials for the Indoor Meet on Monday, Feb. 1, at 5.15 p.m. This decision was arrived at yesterday when it was found that the entry list promised to be much larger than was anticipated.

A great number of entries have been received to date and with those to come in to-day and Monday, it would be an impossible task to run the whole meet on Wednesday. On Monday afternoon then, at 5.15, the elimination trials will be held. In this way every man will have an opportunity for an even chance to get to the finals which will be held on Wednesday afternoon at the same hour.

It has not been definitely decided whether elimination trials will be necessary in all events. It is a sure thing, however, that trials will be held in all the track events, viz:—

220 yard dash.
440 yard dash.
880 yard run.
Potato race.

There is not likely to be any elimination for the mile run as in this event a much larger field can be accommodated on the track.

A scheme has been hit upon for the elimination trials which will give every man an equal chance. The trials will be a run either singly or in pairs and each man's time will be accurately taken, the fastest men thus qualifying for the finals.

It is hoped that most of the entries will be in to-day so that the committee will have an opportunity to make arrangements for Monday's trials. The entry list, however, does not close until Monday when post entries will be received. Post entries can only be received up to 10th April on conditions that entries be received after that date for the track events. Post entries will be received for the jumps and shot put on Wednesday.

To-day is the last regular work-out before the trials and it is expected that a large group will be out to get the finishing touches.

Varsity DOWNED BY FRONTENACS IN EASY MANNER

Speedy Kingstonians Outplayed the Collegians in Every Department

Frontenacs won the senior O.H.A. fixture at the covered rink from Varsity O.H.A. team last night by the score of 8-3. The game was close, as the scoring went, until the last few minutes of play when the locals got down to real hockey and completely outclassed the collegians. The brand of hockey that the fans witnessed was not as exciting as usual, but the locals from the start had the edge on the visitors and it could be seen from the play that a win for Frontenacs was almost certain.

About three minutes after play the first goal was scored by Smith. This lived up to the Frontenacs and, in this period, they scored two goals to one of their rivals. Frontenacs, however, Varsity in combination, but somehow when the locals got to the goals they lost the luck and their fine spurts of speed and good work was lost. Varsity played a partly two-man combination game and also relied on the individual rushes of their men. In this stage they had nothing on Frontenacs who excelled in stick handling and accuracy. After considerable play, Reid found the nets for the first Frontenac score, and was followed some minutes later by Stanton.

In the second period, the visitors pressed the game hard and their efforts were rewarded when Catto found the nets for Varsity's second score. But Brouse had to be reckoned with and he scored a goal after a beautiful trip up the rink in which he showed his ability at stick handling. Before the period ended, Millan scored another for Frontenacs.

Varsity seemed strong at the opening of each period and after a few minutes of play in the third period Smith slipped a hard shot past Cooke. But here ended the scoring for the students. In succession Reid and Millan scored and then played see-saw up and down the rink. With a few minutes to play Reid scored from the wing, and, at the scratch off, found the nets again. The game ended in a few minutes.

The line-up was:

Frontenacs Varsity
Levesque goal Levesque
Stanton defence Mills
Crawford defence Catto Brouse power Wilson
Millan centre Smith
Reid wing Dufre
Derry wing Harvi
Referee—Glen Caldwell, Barrie, Ont.

WRESTLING CLUB PREPARING FOR ASSAULT-AT-ARMS

The wrestlers will have a work-out at headquarters in the Union on Monday at 2 p.m. Coach Smith will be on hand and a good turn-out is expected. The College assault-at-arms is drawing near and it is high time that the men were turning out more regularly.

NATIONAL HOCKEY ASSN. TEAMS ARE HOMEWARD BOUND

Wanderers and Ottawas Are now Running Neck and Neck
For Honours

With the Ottawa Senators and the Wanderers running neck and neck for the leadership honors and Toronto, Shamrocks and Quebec pretty well bunched, the National Hockey Association teams will start down the homeward stretch in the race for the championship title on Saturday night. On that occasion the Flying Frenchmen will entertain the Shamrocks here at the Arena, while the Wanderers will journey to Toronto to meet Jack Marshall's champions and Ottawa again face the Quebec combination in the Ancient Capital. It is quite possible that the games on Saturday will bring about at least one surprise. The Red Bands will have to travel at a fast clip to down the Toronto's, while Ottawa will likely have a very hard time repeating their victory of Wednesday last over the Quebec boys in the Ancient Capital. The Canadians should on the present form of the two teams, add another victory to their win column at the expense of the Shamrocks. True, the Shamrocks defeated the Flying Frenchmen in their last game here, but the Canadians have improved greatly during the past couple of weeks.

There will likely be a number of changes on the line-up of the Canadians when they face the Shamrocks. Manager George Kennedy has suspended "Newsy" Lalonde on account of his failure to get into condition, while Harry Scott has been released outright. Donald Smith will likely replace Lalonde on the forward line on Saturday, while Lavolette and Pitre will play next the boards. Vezina will be in goal with Corbett and Dubau in front of him.

STANFORD TO HAVE A LARGE NEW POOL

Stanford Board of Trustees Appropriate Money for Enlarging of Swimming Tank

Stanford University—Word was received by Dr. Stolz this morning in a communication from Mr. Vanderlip, treasurer of Stanford, that the board of trustees' committee on grounds has officially appropriated the sum of $1,000 for the purpose of enlarging the new gymnasium filtration plant. This generous measure will allow the creation of a suitable swimming tank by the student body. Executive committee action has been postponed pending the action of the board of trustees, and the announcement made this morning is the signal for definite arrangements on the part of the students.

It is very probable that it will not be necessary to devote the entire amount for the purpose, but the sum named is the maximum which will be allowed by the board of trustees. During the whole affair the board has evinced a very decided willingness to co-operate with the students as far as available funds permit, and Dr. Stolz expressed himself as being very gratified with the result.

Plans for the enlargement have been tentatively drawn up in case the scheme should be approved by the trustees and estimates place the probable cost of the structure at between two and three thousand dollars, although this figure is merely a rough estimate.

Jack Mackley, Cornell's veteran coach of field and track athletics, has attained remarkable success in the period of sixteen years he has been at Ithaca. Nineteen times Cornell has won intercollegiate championships under his supervision—five times in the track and field championships and fourteen times in the cross-country title event. Of the last sixteen championships, Mackley has won over half and date. Cornell has failed to win the team honors only twice. This season promises to be another big year for Mackley. He has 350 athletes on the daily trying for his team and he expects more after the examination period. Cornell last year lost five of her biggest point winners and the coach is working hard to offset this loss.

QUEEN'S TO PLAY SPEEDY ABERDEEN TEAM TO-NIGHT

Good Game Expected When These Two Teams Take
the Ice

Harry Westwick and Ernie Butterworth of Billy Hall will be the officials for the game in Ottawa to-night between the Aberdeens of this city and the Queen's University. Intercollegiate hockey union champions of Kingston. The game is arousing considerable interest in the city, and the prospects are that the attendance will remind one of the old days of the Cliffsides, New Edinburghs and Stewarts.

Nothing is being left undone to have the game one of the big attractions of the season in amateur circles. Aberdeens have succeeded in rounding up a good fast team, while the Queen's aggregation has been having things all their own way in the intercollegiate union this season.

The visitors will arrive in the city on Saturday afternoon at five o'clock, and they will stay at the Russell. About four hundred supporters will be here on the excursion. The Aberdeens held a fast work-out in preparation for the game last night at the Gladstone rink. All the seniors were in line, while Coach Alex Currie was on hand to send them through their paces. Hubert Thebo will be in the nets for Aberdeens, with Gordon Dunlop and Eddie O'Leary in front of him. Tommy Hillman, George Bouchier and Tommy Stewart will all work out on the line.

Queen's will have Smith in the nets. Whyte and Goddard on the defence, with Dawson, Box, McKinnon and Kapelle on the forward line. Tickets for the game are on sale at Beament and Johnson's Sparks street.

The annual intercollegiate cinder battle will be featured by clouds of multi-colored confetti, changeable screens, balloons, doves, goats, and all other animate and inanimate means of provoking rooting enthusiasm, similar to the bleacher stunts which characterize the Big Game—Stanford.

MORE CANDIDATES MUST TURN OUT FOR BOXING SQUAD

For the Heavyweight and 115 lb.
Classes Are Hard to Find

Although the attraction of the evening was the Mott meeting held in the High School building, nevertheless the boxers turned out en masse last night and a good evening's practice was held, when Harry O'Leary put the men through their paces. With the tenth of February drawing very near, the men are realizing the need of extra training in getting down into condition.

Instructor Charlie McCarthy is still on the sick list, his ulcerated tooth keeping him out of the rink, but he will make his presence felt next Tuesday night, when he asks for a record attendance.

As yet no heavyweights have put in their appearance and as this is a very essential department of the club the management asks that the heavies around college turn out and get busy. The 155lb. class was there in force, ten men taking the floor. From this bunch of eager athletes there should be no trouble in picking out a winner.

Norm Forbes was there with the goods again last night, showing all kinds of "pep". Norm has lost none of his old-time form, but if anything is working better than ever.

Montgomery was unable to put in an appearance last night. "Monty" has gone to Toronto, but next Tuesday will see him back with the gloves on.

Fox was on the floor and showed up in good style. This boxer has the makings of a fine welterweight.

Cassidy, the 115lb. wrestler, turned out for the first time in the bantam class.

Myerson was on hand and had several goes, making a very good showing. The same can also be said of Charlie Stewart and Doyle.

A record turn-out is expected for Tuesday at 7.30, when it is hoped some heavies and small men will put in an appearance.

J. B. Rush, who has been appointed head coach of Princeton's football eleven, never played football while an undergraduate at Nassau; in this respect he resembles Bob Zupple, who as a Wisconsin student, used to absorb football while watching from the side lines.

GORDIE ROBERTS NOW LEADING IN SCORING HONORS

Well-Known McGill Man Is Leading Hyland Smith and Pitre by Six Goals

Gordie Roberts, the well-known McGill hockey coach and star wing man for the Wanderers, is now leading in the scoring honours in the National Hockey Association. He jumped into the lead by notching six of the fourteen goals scored by the Wanderers in Wednesday's game against the Shamrocks. Roberts' score now stands at twenty-two goals. Captain Harry Hyland, of the Wanderers and Tommy Smith, of Quebec, are now even with "Didier" Pitre, of the Canadians, who has scored sixteen goals up to date.

Odie Cleghorn and Brownie Baker, of the Wanderers, and Joe Malone, of Quebec, are tied for third place with eleven goals each.

Perry Graves, the all-western end of Coach Zupple's champions, is taking year coach sought by the athletic board of the University of Omaha.

MANY STUDENTS IN JAPAN ARE SELF-SUPPORTING

They Have Not the Same Opportunities for this as American Students

While there is among Japanese students nothing like the opportunities for self-support to be found in America or Europe, one finds, nevertheless, that many young men "make their way" through college. The old time custom of a patron or teacher or some person of rank and prominence assisting students through school is yet prevalent. There is also the custom general in Japan whereby two or three students are invited to be the guests of a professor during their college course. They become regular members of the household. These students often help the professor in various ways, giving him clerical assistance, tutoring his children or assisting by certain manual work or errands in the home. They are closely allied to the professor and the relationship is often exceedingly valuable and intimate.

In addition to such benevolence given to students, there are, especially in larger cities, varying kinds of self-supporting labor on the part of young men seeking an education. In Tokyo there is an organization of students whose purpose it is to assist in securing positions. One will find here young men engaging in all kinds of self-supporting labor, ranging from the teaching of English to the selling of papers and the cleaning of boots. If a young man can secure 15 yen ($1.50) per month, he will have a sufficiency to supply his ordinary wants. In a country where the average wage is 30 cents a day without food, where a family of four persons can get along on $12 a month, then rice, a sleeping mat and a hot bath compensate him for a thousand western necessities of comfort. One teacher said that among his university students one boy supports himself by working for an American insurance company, another adapts plays for a theatre, a number are editors and sub-editors of magazines and periodicals, while still others teach English in night schools. Students even draw jinkishas in night, hard and humiliating as the work may be, while others sweep gardens, do copying and run errands for offices as well as picking up a few yen by washing, mending and even darning. Much of the same independence for self-support found among certain students of the western states is evident among the industrious youth of Japan. One young man was obliged to borrow his passage money to get to America, expecting to land in Seattle virtually without money and without friends, to work his way across the continent to a technical school in the East, where he had determined to finish his scientific education.

REGIMENTAL BAND COMPANY NOTIFIED

The band will not turn out this afternoon with the regiment. Attention of the bandmen is called to the fact that there will always be a band rehearsal on Thursday at 5 p.m. in the McGill Union unless special notice is posted to the contrary.

COLLEGE CORPS REORGANIZED

Ottawa, January 28.—Authorization of the re-organization of the training corps at McGill University, Macdonald College and Laval University, is announced in Military Orders to-day.

The re-organization of the McGill University contingent of the Canadian Officers Training Corps, with an establishment of a regimental staff and eight companies, is authorized. Authority is granted for the formation of two companies of the Canadian Officers Training Corps, to be designated "The Macdonald College Contingent" and to be attached to the McGill University Contingent.

The McGill men welcome the entry of their sister faculty into the university corps. It is another bond between the colleges—a by-product of the Kaiser's war.

The Laval University contingent is re-organized to consist of three companies.

UNIVERSITY OFFERS NEW COURSE IN PLAYGROUNDS

The departments of physical education for men and for women have prepared a course of instruction in the theory and practice of playground management. This is something new in education circles. Dr. L. J. Cooke and Dr. J. Anna Norris have outlined the course and secured instructors and lecturers for special phases of the subject.

The course was arranged as the result of the recent visit of Mr. Weir, the Northwestern field secretary of the National Playground Movement. It will be given in the Colleges of Science, Literature and the Arts, and Education, being accepted by their faculties.

A feature event.
4.—The Science Quartette.
5.—Every Little Movement on the Mats—Gym Team.
6.—Rapid Fire Speeches—Mr. F. J. Smith, Central "Y." 7.—Patriotic Solo—Miss Carrie Morgan.

8.—An Officers' Mess—C. O. T. C. Sketch.
9.—Planologue—Introducing two pianos.
10.—Cinematograph—The Sham Fight in High Park.

:: War Summary ::

These Articles Are Specially Written for the McGill Daily and will be Published each Day.

FRANCE

According to the latest reports from France, the Germans were beaten back in several places along the French battle front. The best victory for the Allies was at Grand Dune, near Nieuport, where the French infantry secured a good position. At Ypres, Lens and Arras there were fierce artillery duels during the day of January 28th. At times the Germans made infantry attacks, but these were beaten off by the heavy fire of the French artillery. The day was particularly quiet at Soissons, and also at Craonne and Rheims. Between Rheims and the Argonne there were a few artillery encounters; but none of them amounted to very much. In the Vosges there were several artillery engagements, and the French cannon silenced several of the German batteries. The French official report says that the positions captured on January 27 have been consolidated and are in a state where the enemy is not likely to recapture them.

RUSSIA

In the eastern theatre of the war there are three large campaigns now in progress. One in East Prussia, near the Russian frontier, where the Russians are advancing on Königsberg; another in Poland, where they are pressing towards Thorn; and the third where the Russians are advancing on the Carpathians.

Two Russian armies are now menacing Königsberg, the capital of East Prussia. The first force is moving from the north on Tilsit and has already driven back the Germans and destroyed their supply station at Pogegen. The second army is advancing on Königsberg from the southeast.

The Russian advance along the right bank of the Vistula is still continuing, and the troops are moving directly towards Thorn.

In Galicia the Russians are meeting with every success. Although not actually on the offensive, they have beaten off all the attacks made upon them by the enemy, and have held their positions along the entire line.

CANADA'S OUTLOOK IF GERMAN WINS

Reflections on Present War if the Allies Are Not Decisively Victorious

Did you ever stop to consider what would be the position of Canada if Germany were not thoroughly beaten in this war? It is so easy for us to think of the war as a spectacular struggle proceeding on the other side of the Atlantic in which our interest has been aroused mainly by our affection for and our connection with the Mother Country. When we hear of our brave and handsome lads being sent out to fight, we sometimes hear ourselves saying: "Well that is the least they could do when we send them over to help them fight their battles." Sometimes we let these thoughts arise in our mind and won't believe that it is our war just as much as the Mother Country's. Suppose we were to sit down and think out carefully what would be our position if the Germans were to create a "stalemate." It is now clear beyond a shadow of doubt that she cannot win. Her only hope was in catching the Allies unprepared, but now that the Allies have their armies totally equipped victory for Germany is an impossibility. In other words what would Canada be doing for the next ten years if German militarism were not completely crushed? We know what Britain, France and Russia would be doing. They would be feverishly arming as they had never done before in order to be as ready as possible when Germany would let her next big thunderbolt drop, to begin with Canada would be starving financially. Should the Allies fail to crush Germany on this occasion when diplomacy and good fortune are with them, no cold-blooded financier is going to take a chance that they will surely crush her next time. So the same financier thinking of "safety first" would send his surplus capital to some neutral field of investment which would not be immediately affected by the great war so obviously coming. This would be the first thing that would happen Canada.

Another serious consequence of real genuine military preparation, Canada would not be able to continue to play with her militia in the same way as in the past when Britain would be arming herself to the teeth. Australia would have as it already has universal military service. Britain would be sure to have it as well if the German menace were to survive. Canada could not stand aside. She would have to hear an immensely heavier burden than any she has yet dreamed of in military taxes and military service.

Another loss would be the check on immigration. Immigrants from Europe seeking to escape the super-militarism aroused at home would flow to other lands and not to Canada. United States, Brazil and the Argentine would no doubt get the majority. It is all very well to say that these would be poor settled people of whom we would be well rid. They would be that but still they would eat and wear clothes and patronize the railways to need professional help. Their avoidance of Canada would rob us of much material prosperity which a swelling tide of immigration might bring.

Thus in a word we would be left entirely dependent on our own resources. We all know that the prosperity which we were enjoying was almost wholly created by the increasing flow into our country of European men and money. How far would the development of Canada be advanced if we had had to depend on our own capital? It is clearly evident that if we fail to win this war decisively it will be a matter of time before we will be a poorer nation.

There would not be a local interest that would not suffer and many of them would suffer as greatly as to die of their sufferings. Yet most of us treat the situation as if it were a matter which chiefly concerned the people of the Mother Country. Should German boasts be made and they be able to hold their frontier and compel an inclusive peace we would soon realize that it probably concerns us more than the average citizen of the British Isles.

Deer Scout.
my son Jake sent me a McGill newspaper and I read sum of yer jokes. Say pard diddnt yu ster scout for Shamrocks back in the 60ies? I guess yu missed be the same feller cause I recollect nerly all yure jokes and yarrs. Facts Every Advertiser Should Know

(Prepared for the McGill Daily by the Desbarats Advertising Agency.)

Any student of fundamental conditions knows that there is no business so sensitive to changing conditions as the hardware trade.

When business is booming, building operations are in full swing, which means prosperity for the hardware people.

When trade is depressed, building operations are curtailed, and hardware sales are materially reduced.

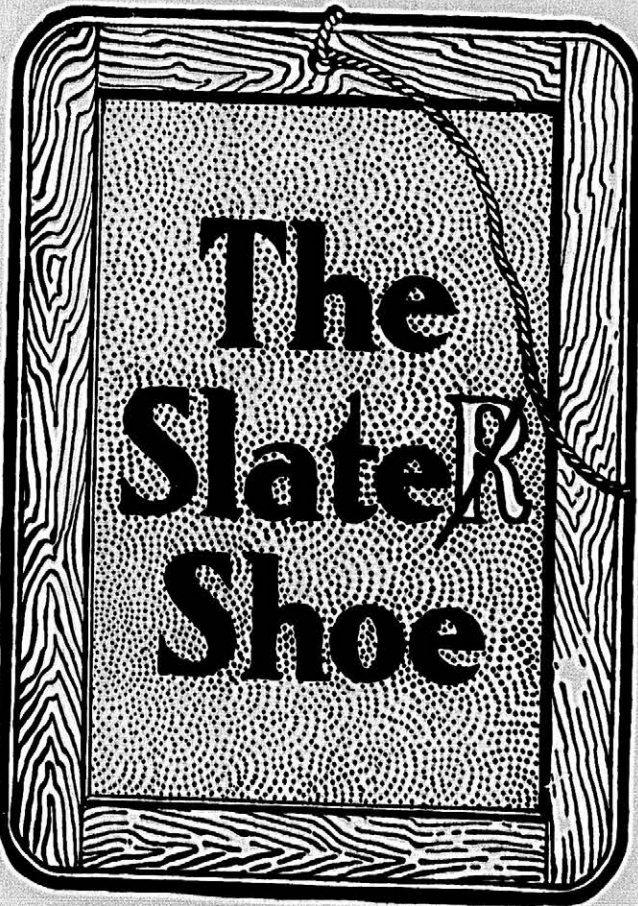

Notwithstanding pessimistic talk about present depressed conditions, due to the war, the retail hardware business, throughout Canada and the United States shows, for the year ending November, 1914, an average decrease of only 5.2 per cent. over the previous year.

Surely this is ample proof that trade generally, considering war conditions, is still on a very sound basis.

And, personally, we are most optimistic—we do not believe Canada will experience any further depression than she is now experiencing.

Those advertisers in the McGill Daily who, in the face of all the talk about depressed conditions, continue to advertise, surely deserve the patronage of every reader of this publication.

Although the result has no bearing on the season to the University of the group standing, Toronto R. and in Toronto on Monday night. The A.A. have the satisfaction of knowing Black and White team won handily that they administered the first defeat by 5 to 2.
